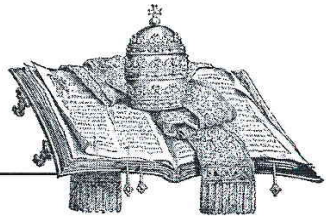
CALL TO ACTION!

Filial Appeal to His Holiness Pope Francis
ON THE FUTURE OF THE FAMILY



Holy Father,

In view of the Synod on the family to be held in October 2015, we filially address Your Holiness to express our fears and hopes regarding the future of the family.

Our fears arise from witnessing a decades-long sexual revolution promoted by an alliance of powerful organizations, political forces and the mass media that consistently work against the very existence of the family as the basic unit of society. Ever since the so-called May 1968 Sorbonne Revolution, a morality opposed to both Divine and natural law has been gradually and systematically imposed on us so implacably as to make it possible, for example, to teach the abhorrent "gender theory" to young children in many countries.

Catholic teaching on the Sixth Commandment of the Law of God shines like a beacon in face of this ominous ideological objective. This beacon attracts many people—overwhelmed by this hedonistic propaganda—to the chaste and fecund family model taught by the Gospel and in accordance with natural law.

Your Holiness, in light of information published on the last Synod, we note with anguish that, for millions of faithful Catholics, the beacon seems to have dimmed in face of the onslaught of lifestyles spread by anti-Christian lobbies. In fact we see widespread confusion arising from the possibility that a breach has opened within the Church that would accept adultery—by permitting divorced and then civilly remarried Catholics to receive Holy Communion—and would virtually accept even homosexual unions when such practices are categorically condemned as being contrary to Divine and natural law.

Paradoxically, our hope stems from this confusion. Truly, in these circumstances, a word from Your Holiness is the only way to clarify the growing confusion amongst the faithful. It would prevent the very teaching of Jesus Christ from being watered down and would dispel the darkness looming over our children's future should that beacon no longer light their way.

Holy Father, we implore You to say this word. We do so with a heart devoted to all that You are and represent. We do so with the certainty that Your word will never disassociate pastoral practice from the teaching bequeathed by Jesus Christ and his vicars—as this would only add to the confusion. Indeed Jesus taught us very clearly that there must be coherence between life and truth (cf. John 14:6-7); and He also warned us that the only way not to fall is to practice His doctrine (cf. Matt. 7:24-27).

Asking for Your apostolic blessing, we assure You of our prayers to the Holy Family—Jesus, Mary and Joseph—to enlighten Your Holiness in these crucially important circumstances.

Go to www.TFP.org and join the thousands of people who have signed this petition to Pope Francis.

Prayer to Mary, Mother of Mercy

by Saint Pope John Paul II

O Mary, Mother of mercy, watch over us all so that the cross of Christ may not been borne in vain, so that we may not wander astray from the path of goodness, nor lose our awareness of sin, but rather grow in the hope of God "rich in faithful love" (Ep 2:4), accomplish with freedom "the good works which God has already designated" for us (Ep 2:10). and therefore become with all our life "the praise of his glory" (Ep 1:12) Amen

Welcome, Cindie Savalle!

The New Evangelism

This "Little Girl" Hope

There is a fox that hides in the henhouse of our soul. It seeks to destroy the hatching eggs of faith. The fox is quite cunning, and slyly works as an adversary against belief; its coat, silky, smooth and warm with pride, arrogance and the illusion of self-sufficiency.

Complete abandonment to Jesus as He leads us to eternity with the Father sounds wonderful. But doing so strikes a deadly blow to the fox. Therefore, the fox continues to creep around with great stealth, planting seeds of doubt, stealing the eggs before they hatch, urging us to maintain a little control, store up earthly treasure, eat magical foods, and find new sources of pleasure.

Rooted in our desire to take control and remain self sufficient is the nagging question, "What if this life is all there is?" Most of us want to live a long life and to be happy. We want to feel good and experience pleasure. We don't want to die because this is the life we know in spite of the toils and troubles to be endured. But our quest for more time to gain more happiness still leaves us lacking. As Saint Augustine pointed out, our hearts are restless until we rest in God. But our union to God is not able to be fully realized in this life. Time cannot unite with timeless.

Some years ago, Pope Benedict XVI took a stab at explaining eternal life: "It would be like plunging into the ocean of infinite love, a moment in which time – the before and after – no longer exists. We can only attempt to grasp the idea that such a moment is life in the full sense, a plunging ever anew into the vastness of God, in which we are simply overwhelmed with joy."

Perhaps the concept of eternity is a stumbling block. Our living is oriented to the calendar. A never ending calendar called eternity is difficult to grasp and can be frightening in itself, especially since we cannot presume salvation. But we must hope. It is hope that provides the only weapon against the fox that seeks to destroy our faith and convince us we can be self sufficient.

And so, we stare down the fox with glowing eyes of hope. A French Catholic layman Charles Peguy wrote a poem about the mystery of hope. In this excerpt he describes hope as a little girl:

"What surprises me, says God, is hope. And I can't get over it.
This little hope who seems like nothing at all.
This little girl hope . . .
Faith is a loyal Wife. Charity is a Mother.
An ardent mother, noble-hearted.
Or an older sister who is like a mother.
Hope is a little girl, nothing at all.
Who came into the world on Christmas day just this past year.
Who is still playing with her snowman . . .
And yet it's this little girl who will endure worlds.
This little girl, nothing at all.
She alone, carrying the others, will cross worlds past.
As the star guided the three kings from the deepest Orient.
Toward the cradle of my son.
Like a trembling flame.
She alone will guide the Virtues and Worlds."

Fox beware . . . there's a little girl in the henhouse.
